Project Summary:
The project, through an innovative and holistic and gender responsive approach towards anti-corruption, aims to strengthen institutional transparency, accountability and integrity, on empowering citizens with a particular focus on women, through the latest technological tools, access to information, and open participation in decision-making processes.

What we want to achieve?
The project's objective is to strengthen institutional transparency, accountability and integrity, with a particular focus on empowering citizens and access to information.

An inclusive approach in addressing both of these areas will ensure that the overall impact of the intervention is achieved: institutions with strengthened capacities will be able to better perform their functions and mandate, also due to the increased demand of the public for transparency and accountability, which will result in the desired change; lower corruption, increased public trust and decreased perception of corruption.

Results:
- Provided technical and legal advice for the drafting of the key anti-corruption legislation.
- Establishment of the largest anti-corruption platform “Kallxo.”
- Increased capacity of investigators to detect, investigate and prosecute corruption related criminal offenses.
- Development and implementation of Integrity Plans at local and central level.
