1- FOREWORD

1.1 The Need for an Action Plan for the Proper Implementation of the ATI Law:

1.1.1 Since the passing of the ATI Law on 10/2/2017 No. 28/2017, (hereinafter “the Law”), the various obligated administrations and entities have witnessed very differing levels of compliance with the provisions set by the Law, particularly regarding the appointment of an ATI Officer (ATIO) and the provision of administrative documents upon application. As for the rest of rights and obligations set by the Law, particularly for information required to be automatically published, the majority of the Administrations do not comply with them. The ATI Law has thus come to be viewed as one of the good laws that lack real implementation.

1.1.2 To address the weak implementation of the Law, a number of official law enforcement authorities have increased their efforts in this regard, for instance:

- The ministerial statement of the current Government included its commitment to implement the Law and issue its implementation decrees;
- The draft “National Anti-Corruption Strategy and its Guideline” included a framework for the implementation of the ATI Law;
- The Office of the Minister of State for Administrative Reform (OMSAR) adopted a series of measures or participated in projects that contribute to the implementation of the Law;
- The Committee of Legislation and Consultations issued a number of advisory decisions clarifying issues raised by different parties;
- The State Council issued decisions compelling non-complying administrations to provide requested documents.

1.1.3 Local and international non-governmental actors have demonstrated broad interest in working on projects to monitor the enforcement of the Law and assist in its implementation from different perspectives, such as the media, education and training. High-level international actors have also shown interest in sharing expertise and assisting in the implementation process, the foremost of which are the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD).

1.1.4 All these scattered and partial efforts, although significant, highlight even more the need for a comprehensive and detailed plan to properly and fully implement all the obligations set by the Law (hereinafter “Action Plan”), which will hopefully ensure better coordination between official and non-official efforts and provide local and international support with proper guidance as part of the implementation of the Law.

1.2 Participatory Mechanisms Applied to Develop, Discuss and Adopt the Action Plan:

A transparent participatory mechanism was adopted in the development, discussion and approval of the Action Plan, including official Lebanese authorities, the different administrations involved in the enforcement of the Law as well as civil society organizations, under the leadership and coordination of OMSAR and in collaboration with UNDP and OECD. The participatory process operated as follows:

1. OMSAR appointed a committee to support the implementation of the ATI Law¹ under the Technical Committee² supporting the Ministerial Anti-Corruption Committee³ headed by the Minister of State for Administrative Reform. This committee is specialized in drafting the National Plan for the Implementation of the ATI Law in collaboration with UNDP and OECD and the national expert they have designated⁴.
2. OMSAR and the Committee supporting the implementation of the ATI Law, in collaboration with the national expert, held extensive consultations with different stakeholders to seek their opinion, observations and suggestions concerning the Draft Plan. These stakeholders included: current and former parliamentarians, representatives of selected relevant administrations including municipalities, competent civil society organizations, the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) and businessmen.
3. After compiling and discussing observations and suggestions resulting from the consultations, the Committee Supporting the Implementation of the ATI Law finalized and submitted the draft Action Plan to the Technical Committee supporting the Ministerial Anti-Corruption Committee, the latter approved it on the 2nd of March 2020 and submitted it to the Ministerial Committee which adopted it on 13 July 2020. OMSAR developed Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) for the implementation and control.

1. Decision No. 289 of 29/05/2019, headed by the Minister of State for Administrative Reform and composed of representatives of the Ministry of Justice, the State Council, the Central Inspection and OMSAR.

2. Decision of the Prime Minister No. 157 of 27/01/2011, headed by the Minister of State for Administrative Reform and composed of representatives of the Prime Minister's office, the Ministry of Justice, the Ministry of Interior and Municipalities, the Supreme Judicial Council, the Central Inspection, the Civil Service Board, the Court of Audit, the Prosecutor General, the Higher Disciplinary Council, the Central Bank of Lebanon and OMSAR.

3. Decision of the Prime Minister No. 156 of 27/01/2011, headed by the Prime Minister and composed of the Minister of State for Administrative Reform (as vice-chairman), the Minister of Finance, the Minister of Justice and the Minister of Interior and Municipalities.

4. Lawyer and former MP Ghassan Moukheiber; one of the sponsors of the bill and the head of the subcommittee of the Administration and Justice Committee which discussed and revised the bill in Parliament.

2- INTRODUCTION

2.1 Objectives of ATI:

ATI Laws in Lebanese and comparative law, aim at achieving, through legal and administrative tools that increase the transparency level of the administration, a number of general objectives, the majority of which stem from the commitment of the State to the provisions of the Constitution and international conventions Lebanon has ratified, notably the following:

- 2.1.1 Guarantee the right to expression and information, including the “freedom to seek, receive and impart information and ideas of all kinds, regardless of frontiers, either orally, in writing or in print, in the form of art, or through any other media of his choice”, according to the Article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights.
- 2.1.2 Contribute to the development of effective, transparent and accountable institutions at all levels, according to United Nations Sustainable Development Goal 16 on peace, justice and strong institutions – particularly main actions 16.6 and 16.10 which directly tackle access to information.
- 2.1.3 Implement the highest standards of transparency, being a fundamental pillar and a requirement for the Open Government Partnership (OGP) which Lebanon endeavours to join and which is a global reform movement for the public and private sectors around the world.
- 2.1.4 Prevent and help fight corruption based on the United Nations Convention against Corruption entered into by Lebanon on 22/04/2009, which considers transparency a general principle to prevent and fight corruption and a major tool to ensure sound public administration; the Convention also includes detailed provisions related to ATI, under Article 10 “Public Reporting” and Article 13 “Participation of Society”.
- 2.1.5 Increase the level of citizens’ trust in the State, which is a pillar of a functioning democracy and the rule of law.
- 2.1.6 Attract investments and increase the level of competitiveness of the Lebanese State and legal persons of public and private law involved in applying transparency and ATI provisions.

2.2 Historical Background of the Elaboration and Adoption of the Law:

2.2.1 Existing laws and practices, the needs to develop and fill the gaps in the laws:

- In 2001, OMSAR drafted a law on the right of access to information.
- Since 2005, there has been great interest in ATI among Lebanese civil society organizations and anti-corruption activists. Several conferences and workshops were organized to assess the situation and put forward suggestions to fill the gaps in legislation and practice. The situation and practices of ATI before the ATI Law can be summed up as follows:
- Laws and regulations were limited to some official institutions and registers related to the publishing information that concerns the public, especially the Official Gazette and different registers such as the Commercial, Land and Associations' Registers.
- Some private laws were limited to establishing the right of access to some available information, such as the information provided in the Municipalities Law dated 1977.
- In other respects, the practices of the public administrations and municipalities, in all cases, lacked transparency and made it difficult or even impossible to access information they hold.

2.2.2 Activities of the National Network for the Right of Access to Information:

- The civil movement in this regard led to the creation in 2006 of the National Network for the Right of Access to Information which includes a Steering Committee led by Lebanese Parliamentarians against Corruption (LebPAC) and the following members: The Lebanese Transparency Association (LTA), Association pour la Défense des Droits et des Libertés (ADDL), syndicates, associations, ministries' representatives as well as international comparative expertise "through the American Bar Association (ABA)" and various Lebanese legal experts. The Legal Working Group of the network drafted an ATI bill in a transparent and participatory manner with all its members.

2.2.3 The ATI Bill Passed by the Parliament:

2.2.3.1 The bill was introduced to Parliament in 2009 by the president of the National Network for the Right of Access to Information MP Ghassan Moukheiber and five members of LebPAC. It was put on the agenda of the Administration and Justice Committee starting 2012 and was discussed in a special subcommittee comprised of representatives from the ministries, relevant judiciary as well as oversight entities, with the technical assistance of UNDP. The amended bill was submitted to the Plenary of Parliament which discussed it and approved it on 10/02/2017 (Law No. 28/2017).

2.2.3.2 After Law No. 28/2017, the Parliament passed a law for "Strengthening Transparency in the Oil and Gas Sector" (Law No. 84 of 10/18/2018) aimed to also increase the level of transparency and access specialized information in this vital sector in Lebanon.

2.3 Characteristics of the ATI Law:

2.3.1 The Law ensures the transparency of all Obligated Administrations' actions, whereby the principle is that all administrative information and documents of all types and forms should be provided, either upon request or by mandatory publication; while the exception is made for information and documents limitatively identified either for the protection of personal interests or legitimate public interests (Articles 1, 3, 4 and 5).

2.3.2 The Law opts for a broad interpretation of the Obligated Administrations that includes all legal persons of public law, the municipalities, most of the judiciary and a number of legal persons of private law that discharge functions serving public interest (Article 2).

2.3.3 The Law provides for the following set of rights for people and obligations for Obligated Administrations:

2.3.3.1 Provide information upon application (Art. 1 and Art. 14 to 19)

2.3.3.2 Access and correct personal information and data (Art. 4)

2.3.3.3 Reuse information within the limits set by the Law (Art. 20)

2.3.3.4 Publish the rationale of laws and decrees (Art. 6)

2.3.3.5 Write rationale for individual, non-regulatory, administrative decisions (Art. 10 – 11 – 12)

2.3.3.6 Publish all regulatory decisions, memoranda and circulars containing interpretation of laws and regulations or having a regulatory value (Art. 7 – a)

2.3.3.7 Publish report for public money payments exceeding LBP 5 million (Art. 7 – b)

2.3.3.8 Publish Annual Activity reports (Art. 8)

3- OBSTACLES TO THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE LAW AND MAIN ACTIONS PROPOSED IN THE ACTION PLAN

The Action Plan is based upon the provisions of the Law, including the obligations of the Administrations involved in its enforcement, and upon the various obstacles and difficulties in implementing the said provisions. To overcome these problems and fully implement the Law, the Action Plan proposes 10 main actions together with their related implementation activities; it identifies the parties responsible for their implementation and sets the implementation deadlines. The following are the main obstacles and the corresponding main actions proposed to overcome them:

Main Obstacles to the Implementation of the Law	Main Actions Proposed in the Action Plan
1 Some Obligated Administrations were reluctant and did not fulfil their obligations, especially because they considered themselves not subject to the Law.	 Develop a comprehensive list of Obligated Administrations by the ATI Law and provide them with pressure and incentives to comply.
2 Several Obligated Administrations are reluctant to appoint an ATI Officer (ATIO) supposed to specialize in the proper enforcement of the Law within the Administration.	 Appoint ATI Officers (ATIO) within all Obligated Administrations and provide them with pressure and incentives to comply.
3 The public in general and the ATIO in particular lack information about rights and enforcement obligations, mechanisms and procedures set by the Law.	 Provide information about ATI rights and procedures.
4 Many Obligated Administrations officials, particularly ATIO, lack detailed knowledge and necessary skills to implement the provisions set by the Law, notably mandatory publication: e.g. writing rationale for all individual administrative decisions and publishing Payment and Annual Activity Reports.	 Provide training and support.
5 Many Obligated Administrations do not have appropriate electronic media and communication tools to implement mandatory information publication set by the Law. There is also the need for one or more websites providing detailed information about the Law.	 Develop electronic tools to implement the ATI Law.

6 The law establishing the National Anti-corruption Institution was enacted has to be established, its members nominated and a corresponding budget allocated. The Law had provided NACI it with large prerogatives, making it the official independent body for implementing the Law and forcing non-complying administrations to fulfil their obligations.	 Establish the National Anti-Corruption Institution (NACI), appoint its members and activate it.
7 Until and even after the establishment of NACI, existing institutions lack an official body to monitor and hold accountable non-complying administrations, especially concerning the mandatory publication of information and reports.	 Develop oversight mechanisms to ensure proper application of the Law.
8 Until and even after the establishment of NACI, grievance and redress procedures in the cases of non-compliance of the Obligated Administrations are limited to appealing to the competent jurisdictions (administrative or judicial, according to the specialty). There is no assistance mechanism for solving issues by mediation.	 Develop mechanisms for receiving and handling complaints related to the implementation of the Law.
9 Some Obligated Administrations alleged the absence of implementation decrees to avoid complying with the provisions, even though the Law is in effect and is binding on the Administrations without the need for implementation decrees. Also, experience has shown that there are issues that need to be clarified in implementation decrees to ensure a better enforcement of the Law.	 Issue implementation decrees in areas of necessity.
10 Many Administrations lack effective systems for filing, archiving and extracting administrative documents, thus preventing easy access to information, which is considered a failure to implement this obligation explicitly set out in the Law.	 Develop effective systems for filing, archiving and extracting administrative documents and automating the administrations.

Therefore, it is necessary to clarify that it is expected that these official authorities will entrust non-official and international entities with all or part of their responsibilities; the latter may also take the initiative to implement many actions and programs. The main entities are the following:

- Official bodies legally competent to implement some action items identified in the Action Plan (such as the Civil Service Board and the National School of Administration)

5- TIMEFRAME, MONITORING AND IMPLEMENTATION FOLLOW-UP

This period can be extended through a new or amended Action Plan, upon the recommendation of the Follow-Up Committee by appropriate decisions following the same mechanisms adopted for the approval of the Action Plan.
- It should be noted, however, that many of the actions and projects identified in the Action Plan are subject to the availability of appropriate financial and human resources.

5.2 Implementation Priorities:

- Implementation priorities for each of the actions proposed in the Action Plan are defined at three levels related to the implementation period:
- Short-term, within 6 months of the adoption of the Plan (defined by A);

- Long-term, within 2 years of the adoption of the Plan (defined by C)

5.3 Follow-Up and Monitoring Mechanisms:

The Follow-Up Committee shall follow-up and monitor the implementation of the Action Plan. It shall produce periodic reports on the progress of the implementation of the Action Plan every six months, on the basis of Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) that OMSAR will develop, following extensive mandatory consultations with representatives of official and non-official oversight entities and partners in the full or partial implementation of the Action Plan. It should widely disseminate these reports through all available electronic media and submit them nominally to all other entities responsible for following-up on the implementation, coordination and supervision of the Action Plan. The reports can include suggestions to amend or develop the Law and the implementation decrees.
