May Doe Kabar National Network of Rural Women connects 20,000 rural women and their families across eight states and regions in Myanmar: Ayeyarwady, Chin, Kachin, Kayah, Magway, Mon, Rakhine and Shan States.

May Doe Kabar has at its core a network of 2,000 women saving and lending groups (Self-reliant Groups) and 31 women-led civil society organizations (Township Leading groups). May Doe Kabar was launched on October 2015 with support from the United Nations Development Programme. It creates a channel for realising the collective voices of rural women for inclusion in local and national policies. May Doe Kabar responds to the current needs and long-term aspirations of rural women and to promote the role and leadership of rural women to contribute to sustainable development and gender equality.

The May Doe Kabar members are also connected through the iWomen Inspiring Women App, a free mobile app that is co-developed UNDP and launched in 2016.

May Doe Kabar Township Leading Groups (TLGs) are 31 registered women-led civil society organizations. May Doe Kabar through its 31 TLGs enhances social recognition of rural women as community leaders and community service providers.

The TLGs use a combination of financial surplus gained from interest on loans at the self-reliant group level and donor funding to implement village infrastructure projects, education projects, vocational and technology trainings food security projects, disaster relief support, amongst others. The 31 TLGs were originally formed in 2013-14 with support from UNDP.
