Governance for Empowerment and Social Inclusion

The Challenge

With the former conflict-affected areas gradually moving from relief to resettlement and recovery, challenges remain in consolidating income-generation activities, regenerating local economic development, building links to markets and ensuring the equity of support in order to prevent the emergence of new grievances. Furthermore, addressing issues relating to the identity and integration of different groups, building full confidence in the legal system and ability to deliver quality services efficiently are vital as Sri Lanka looks to promote reconciliation and lasting peace. These are areas where UNDP has considerable experience, and the Governance for Empowerment and Social Inclusion (GESI) Programme is well-positioned to support.

Our Focus

In support of Sri Lanka’s move towards development, the GESI Programme will focus on the capacity development of national institutions and empowerment of communities, working to create sustainable livelihoods and promote human rights protection, focusing on marginalized groups, including women-headed households, youth, plantation sector workers and conflict-affected communities.

Working with national and Local Government, the private sector, civil society and communities, the Programme aims to support revitalization of local economies so as to expand income-generating opportunities and build links to markets. Further supporting opportunities for reconciliation, the Programme will focus on strengthening the ability of Local Government institutions to improve public consultation and community engagement, and ensuring that gains in the justice sector are institutionalized, systematized and scaled-up, whilst strengthening the foundation for social integration.

Contributing to UN’s Work in Sri Lanka

The GESI Programme closely relates to the outcomes of the United Nations Development Assistance Framework (UNDAF) of achieving equitable economic growth and sustainable livelihoods, reducing disparities and ensuring quality social services and ensuring governance, human rights, gender equality, social inclusion and protection.

Our Work

- Governance for Local Economic Development Programme (GLED)
  Building on the programmatic areas, results, networks and best practices of UNDP’s Local Governance Programme (LoGoPro) and Transition Recovery Programme (TRP), UNDP’s new flagship Governance for Local Economic Development Programme implemented in 2013-2017 focuses on increasing the capacity of sub-national level governance institutions, civil society, the private sector and communities in order to foster access to enhanced public sector service delivery, socio-economic development and social cohesion across the identified lagging regions, while securing the transition from recovery to development in the lagging areas of Sri Lanka. The GLED Programme has three main projects under it, the EU-UN Joint Intervention Supporting Integrated District Development in Sri Lanka, the Northern Livelihood Development Project and the Rebuilding Agricultural Livelihoods Project.

- EU-UN Joint Intervention Supporting Integrated District Development in Sri Lanka (EU-SDDP)
  UNDP is working in collaboration with UNICEF, UNOPS, FAO, ILO and IFC on the joint European Union funded project that aims to support poverty reduction and the provision of basic infrastructure and services for vulnerable populations in the districts of Ampara and Batticaloa in the Eastern Province, Vavuniya and Mannar in the Northern Province and border villages in the districts of Puttalam, Anuradhapura and Monaragala, as well as support their economic development and strengthen district planning capacities.

- Northern Livelihood Development Project I and II (NLDPII)
  Funded by the Government of Norway, NLDPII supports conflict-affected communities, particularly those socially and economically excluded, in Jaffna, Kilinochchi and Mullaitivu districts to strengthen their capacities to become self-sufficient through engagement in fair and equitable livelihood opportunities, while increasing opportunities for interaction within and between communities.

- Rebuilding Agricultural Livelihoods Project (CIDA-RALP)
  The Rebuilding Agricultural Livelihoods Project aims to increase agriculture and fisheries based livelihood opportunities and services for returnee communities in the formerly conflict-affected districts of Jaffna, Kilinochchi and Mullaitivu. The project is funded by the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA).

- Strengthening Enforcement of Law, Access to Justice and Social Integration (SELAJSI)
  SELAJSI, for 2013-2017, is developed based on the experience accumulated from UNDP’s Equal Access to Justice Project (AJ2) (2008-2013). It aims to build on systematizing and scaling-up of the coordination mechanisms established for more upstream reforms for justice, promote evidence-based planning to improve the administration of criminal justice between agencies, and focus on sequencing and prioritizing to address issues of administration of justice that adversely affect the most vulnerable and support the foundations for longer-term social integration and development.

- Communities for Progress (C4P II)
  The project promotes social cohesion and socio-economic empowerment of communities in 5 former conflict-affected districts of the Northern, North-Central and Eastern provinces. Funded by the Australian Agency for International Development (AusAID), the immediate objectives of the project are to enhance cohesive structures and collective actions to promote socio-economic empowerment involving all social groups within target communities; and improve social interaction and acceptance amongst and within socio-culturally diverse communities.
