As one of our largest government contributors, Denmark is a vital partner in UNDP’s mission to end extreme poverty, reduce inequality and achieve the goals of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. UNDP’s work and the priorities of the Danish Government converge in many areas, especially in our commitment to help countries reach the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) through promoting democratic governance and enhancing national prevention and recovery capacities to build resilience.

“UNDP plays a central role in supporting developing countries in achieving the integrated 2030 Agenda and works to address many of the root causes of migration and refugees. UNDP’s strategic priorities are well aligned with Denmark’s development and humanitarian strategy.”

Ulla Tørnæs, Danish Minister for International Development Cooperation

Results on the Ground

Danish support, through UNDP, is making a difference to people’s lives by helping to stabilize societies and rebuild institutions in some of the most challenging development contexts in the world.

The top ten recipients of Danish funding through UNDP from 2014 to 2017 were Iraq, Afghanistan, Ukraine, Bangladesh, Nepal, Somalia, Lebanon, Tanzania, Jordan and Ghana. The figure below illustrates just some of the results achieved in that time, thanks to the support of Denmark and other donors.

Iraq

- Stabilisation
  - Nearly 3 million Iraqis returned home
  - 1,544 projects completed or underway to stabilize newly liberated areas
  - Critical infrastructure restored, such as water, electricity, health clinics, hospitals, schools and universities

Afghanistan

- Law and order
  - Salaries paid to 156,000 police and prison officers

Ukraine

- Strengthening democratic governance
  - Around 1 million public officials publicly declared their assets (up from 160,000 in 2016) through e-asset system
  - Local presence of Ombudsman’s Office extended to all 24 regions, enabling 2,952 consultations and 307 visits to prisons, orphanages and geriatric homes

Bangladesh

- Human rights and women’s empowerment
  - Established 2,490 Farmer Field Schools giving access to 58,949 marginalized farmers (52% female) to learn modern agricultural technology and management
  - Promoted a nationwide culture of human rights, including through films on child marriage, women’s empowerment and minority land issues
  - Established 184 Women Development Forums with 5,333 members, giving elected women representatives of local governments a stronger voice on gender-responsive planning and budgeting

Delivering Results

When you invest in UNDP, you invest in the entire UN Development System—helping deliver better results for the world’s poorest and most vulnerable.

Donors’ support to our essential unearmarked “core” funding enables us to:

- Focus on the poorest: 86% of core programme resources are allocated to Low Income Countries
- Respond quickly and flexibly to crises like earthquakes, tsunamis or conflict
- Leverage additional financing—for every $1 of core resources invested in Middle Income Countries, we leverage $32 in other resources
- Maintain the managerial backbone that safeguards the quality and integrity of UNDP operations, ensuring we are accountable, efficient and transparent
- Underpin our programmes with policy expertise on human rights, gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls, and help us apply robust social and environmental standards to all our projects

UNDP is at the heart of the UN system, working closely with other UN entities for stronger collective impact. For example, we provide shared services (like payroll and common premises) to other agencies so they can operate in hard-to-reach areas. As part of reforms to make the UN system more effective and efficient, UNDP’s global and country support platforms will help governments and partners collaborate on integrated solutions to their biggest development challenges, while strengthening links across development, humanitarian and sustaining peace efforts.

More Efficient, Effective and Transparent

UNDP is committed to managing resources efficiently and delivering maximum value for every dollar invested. During 2014-16 we saved $33m a year and decentralized capacity to the regions, connecting staff more closely to results on the ground and increasing the flexibility of our workforce. Our new Strategic Plan promises continuous improvement: overhauling our business processes to match the best management practices of the 21st century, building innovation and dynamism into the way we work. These improvements will make us better able to deliver—and measure—stronger results for those we serve.
