

Overview of Workers in the Auto-Repair Sub-sector

International Labour Organization

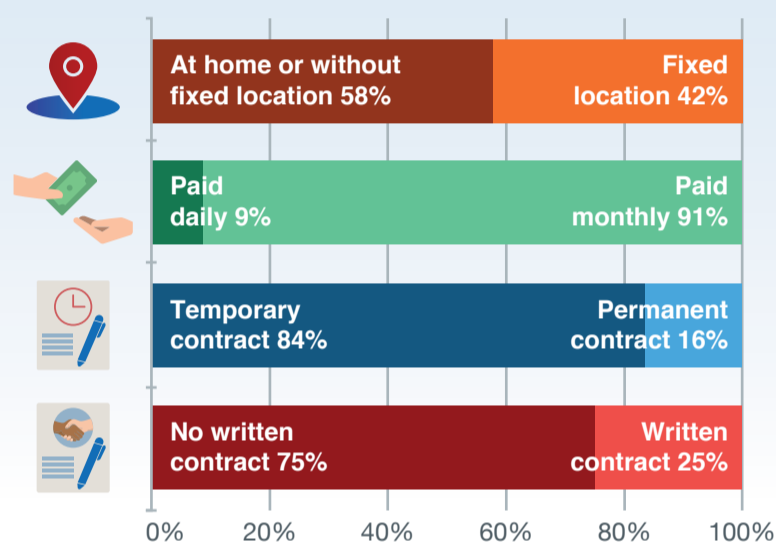

1.

Key characteristics of sector

- There are an estimated 96,347 workers (1.3% of total workforce) in the auto-repair sub-sector, of which 15% is female.
- The overwhelming majority (88%) work in the informal sector.
- The social security coverage is estimated at 2%.
- Potential for increasing formalization and expanding coverage of social security: LOW¹

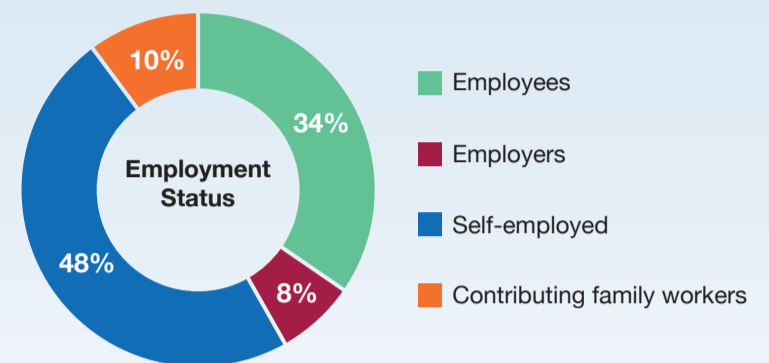

3.

Share of workers by location, payment modality, contract length and type of work

2.

Employment status

- Here women are less likely to be employees, employers or self-employed. As a result, women auto-repair workers are more likely to be in vulnerable forms of employment.

4.

Number of workers by enterprise size, sector of employment and social security

5.

National Social Security Fund (NSSF) data on registrations

6.

Ability to contribute to social security *

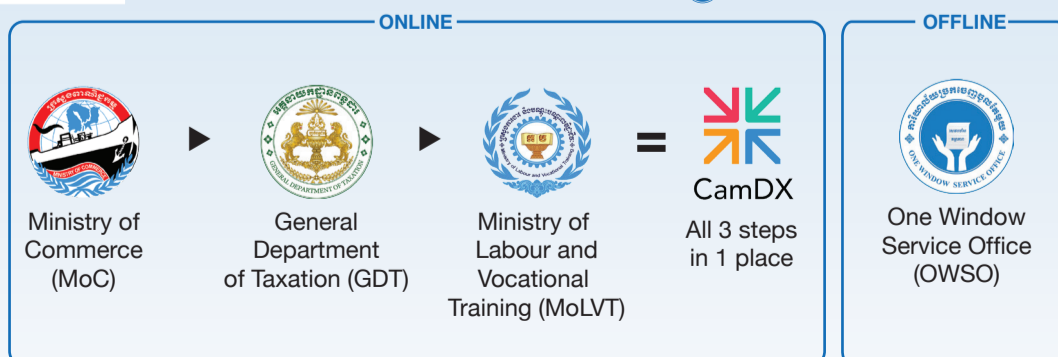

* does not account for the 42% of workers who have an average debt of 228% their annual income.

7.

License and registration information for business and social security

Total Cost of Business Registration: 2.15 million Riel 15-20 days

Registration MoLVT + NSSF: 100,000 Riel - 200,000 Riel 10-28 days

1. The potential for formalization is determined by comparing the sub-sector to the national averages among the dimensions of (i) size of the sub-sector, (ii) share of self-employment, and (iii) ease of physical access.

Overview of workers in the urban and suburban passenger land transport sub-sectors

International Labour Organization

1.

Key characteristics of sector

- There are an estimated 145,945 workers in the passenger land transport sub-sector of which 3% is female.
- The overwhelming majority (93%) work in the informal sector.
- The social security coverage is estimated at 1%.
- Potential for increasing formalisation and expanding coverage of social security: LOW¹

3.

Share of workers by location, payment modality, contract length and type of work

2.

Employment status

- Informality is more prevalent among self-employed individuals and contributing family workers compared to employees, one-third of whom are in the formal sector.

5.

Ability to contribute to social security*

Proportion of employees able to contribute to social security...

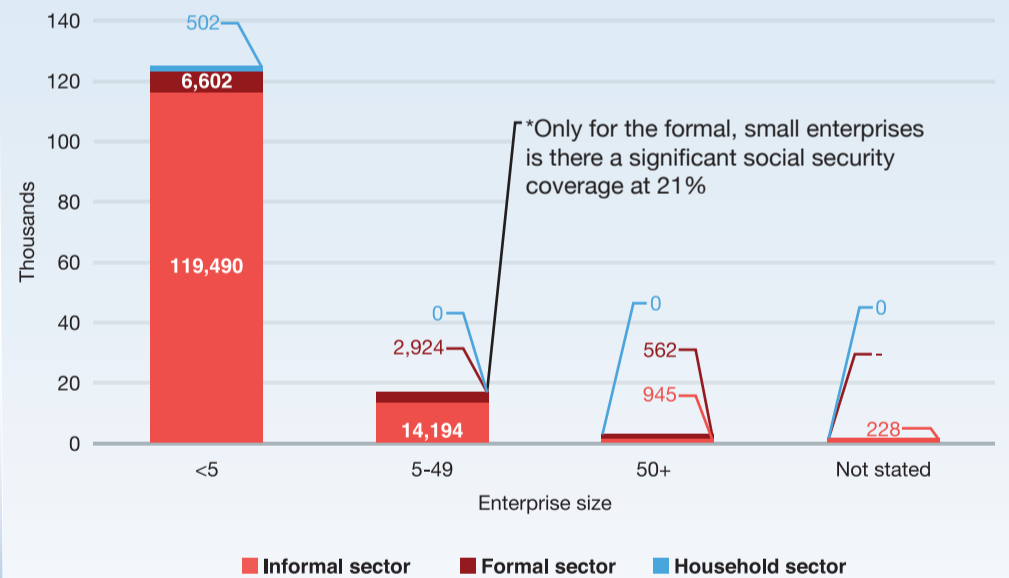

*does not account for the 44% of workers who have an average debt of 17% their annual income.

4.

Number of workers by enterprise size, sector of employment and social security

- The vast majority (87%) of transport workers work in micro- (<5 employees) or small (5-49 employees) enterprises (12). Just 1% work in medium or large (50+ employees) enterprises.

6.

Awareness of, and Registration for National Social Security Fund

Distribution of responses as percentages of a series of sequential questions.

Benefits of NSSF items

- Medical benefit
- Survivors benefit
- Funeral benefit
- Permanent disability
- Cash allowance benefit
- Rehabilitation

Registration MoLVT + NSSF:

100,000 Riel - 200,000 Riel 10-28 days

Information required: Business activities including potential safety issues, and worker's IDs, income level and signatures.

Ministry of Labour and Vocational Training (MoLVT)

National Social Security Fund (NSSF)

1. The potential for formalisation is determined by comparing the subsector to the national averages among the dimensions of (i) size of the subsector, (ii) share of self-employment, and (iii) ease of physical access.

Overview of workers in the cargo-handling sub-sector

International Labour Organization

1. Key characteristics of sector

- There are an estimated 67,941 workers in the cargo handling sub-sector, of which 16% is female.
- The vast majority (87%) work in the informal sector.
- The social security coverage is estimated at 4%.
- Potential for increasing formalisation and expanding coverage of social security: LOW¹

3. Share of workers by location, payment modality, contract length and type of work

Characteristic	Percentage
At home or without fixed location	60%
Fixed Location	40%
Paid daily	37%
Paid Monthly	53%
Paid weekly	2%
Paid bi-monthly	6%
Temporary contract	57%
Permanent contract	43%
No written contract	87%
Written contract	13%

2. Employment status

Employment Status	Percentage
Employees	87%
Self-employed	10%
Employers	2%
Contributing family workers	1%

4. Number of workers by enterprise size and sector of employment and social security

Enterprise size	Informal sector (Thousands)	Formal sector (Thousands)
<5	28,940	0
5-49	28,543	3,421
50+	5,233	1,079
Not stated	725	0

*Only for the formal, medium or large enterprises is there a significant social security coverage at 44%

5. National Social Security Fund (NSSF) data on registrations

Year	Number of Enterprises	Number of Workers
2017	2	0
2018	3	1,606
2019	3	1,711
2020	4	1,785

6. Ability to contribute to social security *

Scenario	Percentage
After paying equal share of total household consumption	85%
After paying for their consumption only	96%

* does not account for the 39% of workers who have an average debt of 126% their annual income.

7. Social security registration

Registration MoLVT + NSSF: 100,000 Riel - 200,000 Riel | 10-28 days

Information required: Business activities including potential safety issues, and worker's IDs, income level and signatures.

Ministry of Labour and Vocational Training (MoLVT)

National Social Security Fund (NSSF)

1. The potential for formalisation is determined by comparing the subsector to the national averages among the dimensions of (i) size of the subsector, (ii) share of self-employment, and (iii) ease of physical access.

Overview of workers in the construction sub-sectors

International Labour
Organization

1. Key characteristics of sector

- There are an estimated 479,783 workers in the construction sub-sector, of which 19% is female.
- The overwhelming majority (94%) work in the informal sector.
- The social security coverage is estimated at 1%.
- Potential for increasing formalisation and expanding coverage of social security: HIGH¹

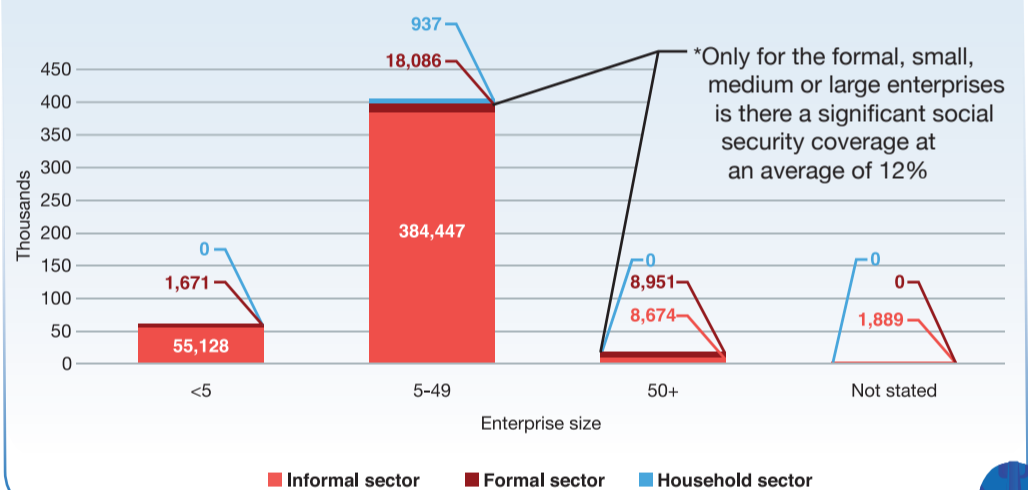

2. Employment status

3. Share of workers by location, payment modality, contract length and type of work

4. Number of workers by enterprise size, sector of employment and social security

5. National Social Security Fund (NSSF) data on registrations

6. Ability to contribute to social security *

* does not account for the 41% of workers who have an average debt of 103% their annual income.

7. Construction licence, Occupational Safety and Health (OSH) and Social Security

4 types of construction licences:

🕒 10-28 days

Occupational Safety and Health

Registration MoLVT + NSSF: *

💰 100,000 Riel - 200,000 Riel 🕒 10-28 days

Ministry of Land Management, Urban Planning and Construction

Type depends on value and size, with small falling under municipal authority:

- Validity, 3 years (extendable)
- Applicable taxes, Profit, VAT, Withholding and Salary (income)
- Law on insurance (2014) requires a "construction liability insurance policy"

Ministry of Labour and Vocational Training (MoLVT)

Prakas on OSH require the following for construction sites:

- General information
- Sanitation
- Weather related risks
- Storage waste and cleanliness management

Ministry of Labour and Vocational Training (MoLVT)

National Social Security Fund (NSSF)

*Optional here is Personnel Accident (PA) insurance (such as NSSF-EII)

1. The potential for formalisation is determined by comparing the subsector to the national averages among the dimensions of (i) size of the subsector, (ii) share of self-employment, and (iii) ease of physical access.

Overview of workers in the manufacture of beverages and food products sectors

International Labour Organization

1. Key characteristics of sector

- There are an estimated 82,415 workers in the agroprocessing sub-sector, of which 55% is female.
- The majority (82%) work in the informal sector.
- The social security coverage is estimated at 5%.
- Potential for increasing formalisation and expanding coverage of social security: LOW¹

3. Share of workers by location, payment modality, contract length and type of work

Category	Sub-category	Percentage
Location	At home or without fixed location	62%
	Fixed Location	38%
Payment modality	Paid daily	22%
	Paid weekly	8%
	Paid Monthly	64%
	Paid bi-monthly	11%
Contract length	Temporary contract	83%
	Permanent contract	17%
Type of work	No written contract	63%
	Written contract	37%

2. Employment status

Employment Status	Percentage
Employees	41%
Employers	3%
Self-employed	38%
Contributing family workers	18%

4. Number of workers by enterprise size, sector of employment and social security

Enterprise size	Informal sector (Thousands)	Formal sector (Thousands)
<5	38,808	1,157
5-49	14,627	5,658
50+	8,273	1,083
Not stated	0	12,810

*Only for the formal, small, medium or large enterprises is there a significant social security coverage at an average of 28%

5. National Social Security Fund (NSSF) data on registrations

Year	Number of Enterprises	Number of Workers
2017	235	2,493
2018	282	17,423
2019	310	19,049
2020	304	20,380

6. Ability to contribute to social security *

Scenario	Percentage
After paying equal share of total household consumption	43%
After paying for their consumption only	94%

* does not account for the 47% of workers who have an average debt of 225% their annual income.

7. Social security registration

Registration MoLVT + NSSF: 100,000 Riel - 200,000 Riel | 10-28 days

Information required: Business activities including potential safety issues, and worker's IDs, income level and signatures.

Ministry of Labour and Vocational Training (MoLVT)

National Social Security Fund (NSSF)

1. The potential for formalisation is determined by comparing the subsector to the national averages among the dimensions of (i) size of the subsector, (ii) share of self-employment, and (iii) ease of physical access.

Overview of workers in the restaurants sub-sector

International Labour Organization

1. Key characteristics of sector

- There are an estimated 257,056 workers in the restaurants sub-sector, of which 65% is female.
- The overwhelming majority (88%) work in the informal sector.
- The social security coverage is estimated at 1%.
- Potential for increasing formalisation and expanding coverage of social security: HIGH¹

2. Employment status

Employment Status	Percentage
Employees	55%
Self-employed	32%
Employers	2%
Contributing family workers	11%

3. Share of workers by location, payment modality, contract length and type of work

Characteristic	Percentage
At home or without fixed location	54%
Fixed Location	46%
Paid daily	12%
Paid bi-monthly	1%
Paid weekly	3%
Monthly	81%
Temporary contract	71%
Permanent contract	29%
No written contract	79%
Written contract	21%

4. Number of workers by enterprise size, sector of employment and social security

Enterprise size	Informal sector (Thousands)	Formal sector (Thousands)
<5	112,249	9,594
5-49	90,089	14,846
50+	3,231	6,062
Not stated	-	20,984

*Only for the formal enterprises is there a significant social security coverage at an average of 12%, here the coverage rate increases with enterprise size.

5. National Social Security Fund (NSSF) data on registrations

Year	Number of Enterprises	Number of Workers
2017	579	0
2018	735	15,974
2019	790	18,900
2020	733	17,389

6. Ability to contribute to social security *

Scenario	Percentage
After paying equal share of total household consumption	49%
After paying for their consumption only	89%

* does not account for the 37% of workers who have an average debt of 213% their annual income.

7. License and registration information for business and social security

Total Cost of Business Registration

2.15 million Riel | 15-20 days

CamDX
All 3 steps in 1 place

Business License*

0.1 to 1.6 million Riel | 7-28 days

*In the restaurant sector, fire safety measures are required.

Registration MoLVT + NSSF:

100,000 Riel - 200,000 Riel | 10-28 days

Information required: Business activities including potential safety issues, and worker's IDs, income level and signatures.

1. The potential for formalisation is determined by comparing the sub-sector to the national averages among the dimensions of (i) size of the subsector, (ii) share of self-employment, and (iii) ease of physical access.