DEVELOPMENT CHALLENGES

In line with the Comprehensive Refugee Response Framework strategy, contributing to a comprehensive refugee response in Uganda, there is a need to support and mitigate the effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on household food security and environmental restoration.

The project will bridge the Humanitarian-Development-Peace peace nexus by providing 'green' livelihoods options for resiliencebuilding for refugees and host communities, with focus on women and youth, including vocational skills-building, MSME development and access to finance, provide clean energy solutions such as solar appliances, off-grid standalone systems, and renewable energy based mini-grids to provide energy access to health facilities to selected refugee hosting districts while providing peace education for peaceful co-existence between refugee and host communities.
