c. UN Women Terms of Reference

1. Introduction

a. Background/Context for required services/results

UN Women, grounded in the vision of equality enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations, works for the elimination of discrimination against women and girls; the empowerment of women; and the achievement of equality between women and men as partners and beneficiaries of development, human rights, humanitarian action and peace and security. The organization works globally to make the vision 2030 of the Sustainable Development Goals a reality for women and girls and strives for women's equal participation and access to opportunities in all aspects of life.

The UN Women Rwanda Country Office is part of UN Women's presence in the East and Southern Africa Region. The Office works alongside other UN agencies and development partners to support the Government of Rwanda in achieving national development priorities and international development aspirations, including the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Rwanda's medium-term national development priorities are set out in its National Strategy for Transformation 2017 - 2024 (NST1), UNDAF II pillars of transformational governance, Economic and social transformation and in the Rwanda Vision 2050. Through the implementation of these strategies, Rwanda aims at transitioning to a middle-income country status while manifesting a strong commitment to achieving the SDGs through a rapid, sustainable and inclusive economic and social growth.

The Government of Rwanda has made great strides in developing policies and strategies to support women's empowerment and the advancement of gender equality alongside numerous mechanisms to support their implementation. However, existing inequalities ingrained in Rwandan culture and society require persistent and consistent long-term efforts to bring about change. On average, women spend approximately 26.7 hours per week on unpaid care work compared to only 16.1 hours spent by men¹ and according to the 2019 Labor Force Survey,² women in Rwanda continue to face significant obstacles in entering the labor market and progressing in their careers. Barriers to participation, persistent occupational and sectoral segregation and a disproportionate share of unpaid household and care work prevent them from enjoying equal access to opportunities. This impedes women's economic choices and weighs on their social status, while ultimately curbing the country's growth and social development. Care work is fundamental for human wellbeing as well as essential for a vibrant, sustainable economy with a productive labor force. The centrality of care to sustainable development and its relevance for gender equality are now widely recognized by the global community including as a target under Sustainable Development Goal 5. Care work ensures the complex and life-sustaining web on which our very existence depends. Without it, individuals, families, societies and economies would not be able to survive and thrive. Yet, around the world women and girls shoulder a disproportionate share of care work that is unpaid, unrecognized and undervalued. Prior to the COVID-19 crisis, women already did three times as much unpaid domestic work and care work as men with women on average doing around 4.1 hours per day compared to men who on average do around 1.7 hours. For women living in rural areas these figures can vary widely, particularly in areas with limited access to regular basic services such as energy, water and sanitation, as women and girls tend to bear the brunt of the unpaid labor to collect and manage these resources and services for daily household consumption.

Agriculture is a major economic sector for Rwanda, employing about 70 percent of the total population and accounting for approximately 31 percent of GDP; and it stands out as one of the most strategic sectors in Rwanda's development, and 75 percent of Rwanda's agricultural production comes from smallholder farmers.³ Data shows the enormous contribution of women in Rwanda, as key producers for their families, market and the country in general. In addition to their direct role in agricultural production, women also spend considerable time in post-harvest handling activities such as cleaning, sorting, and drying which they must combine with their domestic care responsibilities.

Unequal access to time-saving, climate-resilient infrastructure and technology remains a considerable impediment to women's economic empowerment in Rwanda. In relation to access to clean water, only seven percent of female headed households had access to piped water into their dwelling compared to ten percent of male headed households.⁴ In rural areas, people are required to walk long distances in order to reach an improved drinking water source, with 16 percent of households living within 0-200 metres and 34 percent living within 0-500 metres. By contrast, 60 percent of households in urban areas are within 0-200 metres and 72 percent are within 0-500 metres to an improved drinking water source. The task of collecting water as well as firewood – the most commonly used fuel in rural areas – tends to fall on women and girls, and since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, 33 percent of women have seen their time allocated to collecting firewood and fetching water increase by 33 percent, compared to 28 percent of men. This increase is due to the high demand for water and sanitation to meet the hygiene standards needed to keep the coronavirus at bay.

It is within this context that UN Women Rwanda (UNW) is looking for the implementing partners/responsible parties to implement 3Rs Programme interventions in Muhanga, Nyaruguru, Kirehe, Ngoma, Rubavu, Musanze, Gasabo and Nyarugenge districts of Rwanda. The implementing partner/responsible party will join other implementing partners/responsible parties to strengthen women's cooperatives and other organizations have access to timesaving, climate resilient infrastructure and/or technologies needed to provide care services through technical assistance, capacity building and technology infrastructure delivery to 3Rs beneficiaries in timesaving and climate resilient technology as well as comply with the principle of living no one behind and the approach should also respond to the socio-economic challenges of COVID-19 for urban and rural women proposed cooperatives/self-help groups and VSLAs.

Purpose

UN Women Rwanda Country Office seeks potential Implementing Partners to implement a component of the 3R Programme: Transformative approaches to recognize, reduce, and redistribute unpaid care work in women's economic empowerment programming. The Programme aims at achieving the following outcomes:

- Outcome 1: National and local governments develop/strengthen laws, policies and services that recognize and address the disproportionate share of unpaid care work by women and girls
- Outcome 2: Women's cooperatives and other organizations provide transformative care services in rural and/or urban areas to reduce and redistribute unpaid care work

The 3R Programme is based on the following Theory of Change:

- If national and local laws, policies and services recognize and address the disproportionate share of unpaid care work by women and girls; and
- Transformative care services in rural and urban areas reduce and redistribute unpaid care work;
- Then women's and girls' unpaid care work in Rwanda, Senegal and South Africa is reduced, freeing up their time to equally contribute to and benefit from sustainable livelihoods;
- Because structural gender inequalities that prevent women and girls from realizing their economic rights and empowerment will be removed.

UN Women is looking to establish a partnership on outcome 2 And specifically aimed at delivering the following output:

Output 2.3 Women's cooperatives and other organizations have access to timesaving, climate resilient infrastructure and/or technologies needed to provide care services

The requested intervention under the above output aims at measuring the two key indicators

³ <https://rdb.rw/investment-opportunities/agriculture/> (Accessed on 7 January 2021)

⁴ Fifth Integrated Household Living Survey 2017 \(EICV\)

Indicator 2.3.1: Number of women with increased access to timesaving, climate-resilient infrastructure and/or technologies, disaggregated by urban/rural

- Indicator 2.3.2: Number of women's cooperatives and other organizations with increased capacity to deliver sustainable energy and/or WASH services.

The 3R Programme in Rwanda will be implemented in the following eight districts: Muhanga, Nyaruguru, Kirehe, Ngoma, Rubavu, Musanze, Gasabo and Nyarugenge.

2. Description of required services/results

Expected deliverables

UN Women requests the implementing partner to implement two main activities with the aim to achieve output 2.3 Women's cooperatives and other organizations have access to timesaving, climate resilient infrastructure and/or technologies needed to provide care services:

1. Introduce timesaving and climate resilient technologies (e.g., solar powered multifunctional platforms; rainwater harvesting and storage; efficient, clean cooking). The final choice of the technologies will be made in consultation with the cooperatives and stakeholders and based on the findings of the baseline survey conducted in afore mentioned districts.
2. Provide capacity building and technical assistance to increase provision or delivery of sustainable energy and WASH services and timesaving, climate-resilient, environmentally sustainable infrastructure.

The 3R Programme intervention will be implemented in the eight districts and will target women cooperatives/groups involved in agriculture value chains and other selected beneficiaries for capacity building and technical assistance to increase provision and delivery of sustainable energy and WASH service.

The implementing partner in consultation with women cooperatives/groups, local leaders and women beneficiaries will introduce time-saving and climate-resilient technologies that will contribute to the reduction, redistribution and recognizing the unpaid care work in Rwanda. Below are key steps that the implementing partner will undertake.

- Assessment of the appropriate time saving and climate resilient technologies in each target area,
- Purchase of the technologies and distribution to the selected beneficiaries,
- Capacity building of women cooperatives, beneficiaries in using and maintaining given technologies/ provide technical assistance as it is appropriate,
- Create a management committee at community/local or cooperative level to manage the technologies during the project and after the end of the project others.

Technical evaluators who are members of an Evaluation Committee appointed by UNWOMEN will carry out the technical evaluation applying the evaluation criteria and point ratings as listed below. In order to advance beyond Phase I of the detailed evaluation process to Phase II (financial evaluation) a proposal must have achieved a minimum cumulative technical score of 50 points.

1	Proposal is compliant with the Call for Proposal (CFP) requirements	10 points
2	The Organization’s mandate is relevant to the work to be undertaken in the TORs (component 1)	20 points
3	The Proposal demonstrates a sound understanding of the requirements of the TOR and indicates that the organization has the prerequisite capacity to undertake the work successfully (components 2, 3 and 4)	40 points
	TOTAL	70 points

11.2 PHASE II - FINANCIAL PROPOSAL (30 points)

Financial proposals will be evaluated following completion of the technical evaluation. The proponent with the lowest evaluated cost will be awarded 30 points. Other financial proposals will receive pro-rated points based on the relationship of the proponents’ prices to that of the lowest evaluated cost.

Formula for computing points:

Points = (A/B) Financial Points

Example: Proponent A’s price is the lowest at $10.00. Proponent A receives 30 points. Proponent B’s price is $20.00. Proponent B receives $($10.00/$20.00) \times 30$ points = 15 points

The terms “proponent” and “contractor” refer to those organizations that submit a proposal pursuant to this CFP.

12.3 Where the proponent is presented with a requirement or asked to use a specific approach, the proponent must not only state its acceptance, but also describe, where appropriate, how it intends to comply. Failure to provide an answer to an item will be considered an acceptance of the item. Where a descriptive response is requested, failure to provide the same will be viewed as non-responsive.

12.4 The terms of reference in this document provides a general overview of the current operation. If the proponent wishes to propose alternatives or equivalents, the proponent must demonstrate that any such proposed change is equivalent or superior to UNWOMEN established requirements. Acceptance of such changes is at the sole discretion of UNWOMEN.

There should be a clear and direct linkage between the activities and the results at least at the output level. Specific strategies should also be described to support the achievement of results, such as building partnerships, etc.

Activity descriptions should be as specific as necessary, identifying what will be done, who will do it, when it will be done (beginning, duration, completion), and where it will be done. In describing the activities, an indication should be made regarding the organizations and individuals involved in or benefiting from the activity.

This narrative is to be complemented by a tabular presentation that will serve as Implementation Plan, as described in Component

Component 4: Implementation Plan (max 1.5 pages)

This section is presented in tabular form and can be attached as an Annex. It should indicate the sequence of all major activities and timeframe (duration). Provide as much detail as necessary. The Implementation Plan should show a logical flow of activities. Please include in the Implementation Plan all required milestone reports and monitoring reviews.

Monitoring and Evaluation Plan (max. 1 page)

This section should contain an explanation of the plan for monitoring and evaluating the activities, both during its implementation (formative) and at completion (summative). Key elements to be included are:

- How the performance of the activities will be tracked in terms of achievement of the steps and milestones set forth in the Implementation Plan
- How any mid-course correction and adjustment of the design and plans will be facilitated on the basis of feedback received
- How the participation of community members in the monitoring and evaluation processes will be achieved

Component 5: Risks to Successful Implementation (1 page)

Identify and list any major risk factors that could result in the activities not producing the expected results. These should include both internal factors (for example, the technology involved fails to work as projected) and external factors (for example, significant currency fluctuations resulting into changes in the economics of the activity). Describe how such risks are to be mitigated.

Include in this section also the key assumptions on which the activity plan is based on. In this case, the assumptions are mostly related to external factors (for example, government environmental policy remaining stable) which are anticipated in planning, and on which the feasibility of the activities depend

Component 6: Results-Based Budget (max. 1.5 pages)

The development and management of a realistic budget is an important part of developing and implementing successful activities. Careful attention to issues of financial management and integrity will enhance the effectiveness and impact. The following important principles should be kept in mind in preparing a project budget:

- Include costs which relate to efficiently carrying out the activities and producing the results which are set forth in the proposal. Other associated costs should be funded from other sources.
- The budget should be realistic. Find out what planned activities will actually cost, and do not assume that would cost less.
- The budget should include all costs associated with managing and administering the activity or results, particularly include the cost of monitoring and evaluation.

- The budget could include “Support Costs”: those indirect costs that are incurred to operate the Partner as a whole or a segment thereof and that cannot be easily connected or traced to implementation of the Work, i.e., operating expenses, over-head costs and general costs connected to the normal functioning of an organization/business, such as cost for support staff, office space and equipment that are not Direct Costs.
- “Support Cost Rate” means the flat rate at which the Partner will be reimbursed by UN Women for its Support Costs, as set forth in the Partner Project Document and not exceeding a rate of 8% or the rate set forth in the Donor Specific Conditions, if that is lower. The flat rate is calculated on the eligible Direct Costs.
- The budget line items are general categories intended to assist in thinking through where money will be spent. If a planned expenditure does not appear to fit in any of the standard line item categories, list the item under other costs, and state what the money is to be used for.
- The figures contained in the Budget Sheet should agree with those on the proposal header and text.

Result 1 (e.g. Output) Repeat this table for each result.
